Hello,

I suffer from shy bladder or am paruretic, which means I cannot urinate in front of others. Shy bladder is a real medical disorder and those suffering from it deserve a better deal than is available under present urine only testing rules. I object to the rules that equate inability to produce a specimen with refusal to test as these are unjust. SAMHSA needs to immediately mandate the use of alternative tests; oral fluid; hair; sweat patches; for anyone who requests these, but especially for those who claim to suffer from shy bladder. Present rules discriminate against people in my situation.
